"SUNKIST" Wrappers

The biggest lot of oranges that ever came to this city has just arrived—THREE MILLION of them. They arrived by special Fast Freight direct from the big "Sunkist" fruit groves of California. They are the "Sunkist" brand, famed for their delicious flavor and health-giving properties. Each local fruit dealer is laying in a liberal supply of "Sunkists" and on next Monday morning all dealers will put on a Special "Sunkist" Orange Sale, lasting throughout the week.

California's Finest Oranges

"Sunkists" are California's most luscious oranges—the choicest of each of 5,000 California Orange Farmers. They pack all their perfect oranges under the one name, "Sunkist," and ship them by special fast freight the day they are picked.

The "Sunkist" is a tree-ripened orange, seedless and fibreless—never pithy—every "Sunkist" is firm, solid and sound. It is picked by a gloved hand. No orange that falls to the ground or becomes bruised or damaged in any way, ever bears the "Sunkist" name.

How to Serve Them

Oranges are the most appetizing and nourishing food you can serve—at breakfast—in the sick-room—between meals—in salads, ices, sherbets and puddings.

There is no limit to the number of excellent dishes of which "Sunkist" oranges form the basis.

Buy a box of "Sunkist" oranges and your fruit dealer will make you a special price. You will find no trouble in keeping them as long as you want to, because "Sunkists" reach you in excellent condition.

Physicians Advise Them

Leading physicians say that to counteract the effect of meat and other heavy foods we eat, one should eat oranges liberally. It is a universally known fact that orange juice is an excellent food for the brain cells and a tonic for run down nerves. No better laxative than sound, ripe "Sunkist" oranges can be found.

Cost No More Than Common Oranges

"Sunkist" oranges are cheapest to buy because they are thin-skinned, fibreless and seedless. They are nearly all food and no waste. You lose money if you buy pithy, seedy, thick-skinned oranges.

Free Premiums for "Sunkist" Wrappers

The "Sunkist" orange always comes in a "Sunkist" tissue paper wrapper that protects the oranges and retains all their tree ripened flavor. This name on the wrapper means you are buying, at a reasonable price, the finest orange of all.

"Sunkist" wrappers should be kept and sent to us to secure, free, a set of genuine Rogers Orange Spoons, Dessert Spoons and Fruit Knives. The patterns are new 1911 styles, designed exclusively for us. They are as attractive and stylish as money can buy. "Sunkist" Lemons

The Y. W. C. A. expects to have the new building on Seventh and Van Buren streets, completed sometime in June, and to be able to occupy it at that time. The swimming pool will be in operation this summer; the gymnasium will be fully equipped and

The following discussion of Woman Suffrage is copied from a little magazine published by Harry Detweiler, a Chicago musician: "There are no facts which argue against woman suffrage. Suppose that women could be bought as easily as men; grant that they know less at present than do men concerning politics; grant that not all women care to vote—and you have still side-stepped the issue.

"The right to vote is a divine law that ought to be human. Not one man in ten thousand votes intelligently on all subjects. Mothers, wives, and sweethearts make men all they are that is good and serviceable, and we may as well admit it like full grown men, and not dodge the issue. This is not a weak-kneed tribute to women; it is a truth which every man knows who has sense enough to accept the mental and moral support of women. We were once afraid to allow women to teach school—they might become superintendents.

"Women should have suffrage in order that they might be all they may be, that the world with its very wise men may have the full value of women's initiative, which in reality of women's freedom. With so little to offer, men should thrust it upon women, not donate it so willingly. From a purely economical point of view men should realize that women are, in a measure, slaves, and therefore, hampered producers. Women should be allowed to vote—how patronizing a term—be allowed. They should be voting as naturally as men, not because they are so much wiser, but because they are capable of learning, and they represent the balancing power. Conventionalism, which causes the brute man suddenly to become delicate and courteous as a Knight of Sir Arthur, to the ladies, is a false quality when it allows this same man to hoot at these same women for demanding their vote."

I rode on the train among a gang of horsemen who were cursing and swearing and turning the whole train into rough-house. Verily, he was right who said that the horse is the noblest animal God ever created.

MRS. KATHERINE HEPBURN.

A Young College Woman President of Connecticut Suffrage Association.

Hartford, Conn., April 15.—The "Votes for the Woman" slogan has within the past few years been taken up by all classes of people, men and women, young and old, rich and poor, until it has become a world topic and its demand grows more insistent every day. The National American Woman Suffrage association, organized in 1869, was for many years composed of women of mature age, but its membership is now being constantly recruited from the younger elements, notably the college girls. Some five years ago a National College Equal Suffrage League was formed, which at the present time shows a membership of over 2,000. These young women are not band, who is secretary of the Connecticut Society of Social Hygiene.

In public speaking Mrs. Hepburn is forcible rather than emotional, never failing to have her facts well in hand. A masculine member of one of her audiences exclaimed: "Her mind is as logical as a man's."

In appearance she is girlish and attractive, possessing great charm and dignity. In her home life she proves the statement that woman suffrage is not conducive to neglect of or indifference toward feminine duties. She is the mother of a boy of four and a little daughter of three, both rosy, robust and brimful of happiness. Dr. Hepburn's admiring interest in her work makes the home atmosphere one of rare congeniality. Their house in Hartford was formerly the home of Charles Dudley Warner, and a visit to this lovely old place, which Mrs. Hepburn has arranged with exquisite taste, leaves one with ever pleasant memories of her charming hospitality. Through the inspiration of her enthusiastic and untiring efforts, the cause of woman suffrage in Connecticut, long fostered by a few faithful and devoted women, is now awakening new and widespread interest, bringing about enormous increase in membership and unprecedented financial prosperity to the state association.

In a recent interview Mrs. Hepburn declared that, in her opinion, "Women need votes now in order to do the work which women have always done. Women need votes to help get themselves decent working conditions. Women need votes to help protect children from child labor. Women need votes to help put an end to sweatshops. Women need votes to help get more stringent pure food laws. Women need votes to help get better tenement house laws. Women need votes to help combat contagious diseases. Women need votes to help put an end to the white slave traffic. Women need votes to make it necessary for the government to consult the woman's point of view in the making and enforcing of the laws. Women need votes to make it necessary for the government to use the taxes paid by men and women for women's interests as well as men's.

"A hundred years ago the government of this country was primarily concerned with establishing its independence from other nations.

"Today the government of this country is primarily concerned with social and industrial problems, which vitally affect the lives of women and children. History proves that governments pay attention to the demands of the people who keep them in power, and not to the demands of a disfranchised class.

"For this reason votes for women is a natural and necessary result of present day conditions.

WATCHED HIM DRAW PLANS.

Customs Inspector Took No Chances With French Architect.

Washington, April 15.—A customs inspector who knew his business and stood pat, Eugene Duquesne, the French architect recently engaged as instructor of architecture at Harvard, and a set of plans for the new home of the governor of Havana province, Cuba, played parts in a little drama on the New York docks last week. The story has leaked out.

Duquesne, on his way to America, worked on his plans for the governor's house, but did not finish them. The customs inspector raised the question of their value. Unfinished they were worthless; should they be put in competition in Havana, they would have a substantial value. Being uncompleted, they could not be sent in bond.

Duquesne solved the situation by setting up his drawing board on the dock and in about four hours finished his plans, with a customs inspector watching. The plans were then sent to Havana in bond.

MONUMENT QUITS RACING.

American-English Mile Runner Will Compete No More.

New York, April 15.—Jack Monument, America's champion miller and two miller, has decided to retire from the track. In a letter to Lawson Robertson, trainer of the Irish-American Athletic club, he says he will never again don a pair of racing shoes. He says that business prevents him from training properly and rather than compete while in inferior condition, he has decided to quit the sport altogether.

Monument is an Englishman. He came to this country five years ago and joined the Irish-Americans.

MAKE STUDENTS SIGN PLEDGE.

No Intoxicants for Wisconsin University Scholars Is Present Plan.

Madison, Wis., April 15.—Students desiring to matriculate at the University of Wisconsin will have to take a pledge to abstain from intoxicants, if a plan seriously taken up by members of the legislature is carried out.

Action on the Ellingson bill, creating a "dry zone" of five miles around the university, will be indefinitely postponed, and the Hansen bill, requiring a temperance pledge from students, first considered a joke, taken up for consideration.
